

To whom it may concern

I'm writing to recommend Lyubomir Matvienko as a fundamental and data-science oriented programmer. I've worked with Lyubomir for the past few years at Jivaro, and have been consistently impressed with his ability to independently get himself involved with complicated technologies as well as getting them to the production stage.

I was his superior at Jivaro, where we developed and managed a reverse engineering solution which reconstructed and shipped data from one process to our own. This included static analysis of assembly code, finding useful structure and pointers in foreign processes, creating heuristics to identify changes and automate analysis.

I strongly believe that Lyubomir is an excellent addition to any team. He can get himself involved with minimal guidance, he can research and implement what is needed when problems arise, and has a temperament for teamwork.

Sincerely,
